The impact of Plant Pathogenic Bacteria on Global Plant Health

Fourth circular

Dear Colleagues,
despite the difficulties due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we are confident that with your collaboration the 14th International Conference on Plant Pathogenic Bacteria (ICPPB) will be a success.

Therefore, we renew the invitation to this important and expected event which will take place in Assisi-Italy from 3 to 8 July, 2022 (please visit the web site at www.icppb2020.com). Assisi is a small medieval town in the Umbria region (the green heart of Italy), where the Basilica of Saint Francis, an Unesco World Heritage site, is located.

The aims of the 14th ICPPB are to show recent scientific advances in all aspects of phytobacteriology and to encourage dialogue and collaboration between researchers.

We are preparing an outstanding scientific program. So far the following prestigious speakers: Sheng-Yang He, Cindy Morris, Neha Potnis, Cyril Zipfel, George W. Sundin, Emilio Montesinos, Kostas Konstantinidis, Gabriele Berg and Giorgio M. Balestra confirmed their willingness to be part of the Conference. The program will include many topics: Disease Epidemiology and Pathogen Ecology, Disease Emergence and Pathogen Evolution, Disease Control and Prevention, New Tools in Disease Diagnostics and Pathogen Identification, Molecular Plant – Bacteria (and Insect) Interactions, Bacterial Pathogens and the Phytobiome, Natural and Engineered Plant Disease Resistance, Nanotechnology in the Disease Control, New insights on Xylella fastidiosa. Participation of Students and early career Scientists is encouraged by reduced registration fee and specific grants supported by FEMS and the Italian Society of Plant Pathology (SIPaV).

We warmly invite you to submit your abstracts, considering that the abstract submission deadline is 22 April 2022.

In addition to the 14th ICPPB Conference, in the same location, we are also hosting the 4th International Erwinia workshop (IEW), which will be held on 2-3 July, 2022.

We hope you will join us for a great conference and look forward to welcoming you in Assisi!

Kind regards,

Nicola Sante Iacobellis and Roberto Buonauro
